How much is the Montefeltro and the Legacy - I assume they can shoot 2 3/4 to 3 inch. Which would you recommend (between Montefeltro, Legacy and Super Black Eagle) - I mainly hunt pheasant and quail but would also like a gun that I can hunt ducks and geese with. Since I plan to hunt some ducks and geese should I get a camo gun? Any other suggestions or recommendations?

Martin,

Coral Energy Canada is billing ENA for 3 deals for the production month of Sep-01. However, I cannot find anything in the system which matches these deals. Upon contacting Coral, they have stated that you are the trader on each of these deals. The Coral Energy Canada trader is Shane Lee. The detail for these deals is below. Please advise as to where they might be in the system or what my next step is to be so that I may settle this account.

I told them that I would talk to you on Monday and get back to them.

Martin, Apparently you live right next door to friends of mine. Dana Welsh and Gerald King were neighbors of mine when I lived in Houston in 1998, and my wife and I still keep in contact with them. As a matter of fact, we'll be staying with them on November 11 & 12 before their wedding, and might knock on your door to meet you. Funny, Dana mentioned in the past you worked for Enron, but it's such a big company I didn't think I might know you.

I spoke to you a couple of months ago about purchasing an American Drew bedroom furniture set. At the time, I was purchasing the furniture from a company in North Carolina after trying to get a competitive deal from one of your stores. We had a very frank discussion about being competitive and you stated that you would be very competitive with any future purchases and I would like to take this opportunity to take you up on that offer if it still stands. After several unexpected delays, I have canceled my order and received a full refund from the North Carolina company. If you can get to a price close to the price we discussed before, I would like to purchase the furniture from you immediately. I am sure you are busy, however if you or a manager of one of your stores can call me, I would like to discuss purchasing the furniture. Martin, Apparently you live right next door to friends of mine. Dana Welsh and Gerald King were neighbors of mine when I lived in Houston in 1998, and my wife and I still keep in contact with them. As a matter of fact, we'll be staying with them on November 11 & 12 before their wedding, and might knock on your door to meet you. Funny, Dana mentioned in the past you worked for Enron, but it's such a big company I didn't think I might know you.

Update From American Airlines

Sender	mike.gunn@info.aa.com
Recipients	['mcuilla@enron.com']
File	cuilla-m/deleted_items/441.

Dear Martin Cuilla,

I promised to keep you informed and wanted to provide an update on the situation surrounding Flight 587. The National Transportation Safety Board investigation is still underway, with both the cockpit voice and flight data recorders being analyzed for clues about the cause of the accident.

In addition to our normal aircraft inspection program, and as purely a precautionary measure, we have begun a voluntary inspection of all tail fins on the Airbus A300 fleet. The inspection process started on Thursday and should be concluded next week. We have completed approximately 25% of the inspections. While we don't anticipate any problems, we certainly want to look at any and all possibilities for the accident's cause. When the inspection is finished we will communicate those results.

On behalf of all of us at American Airlines, I want to thank everyone for the outpouring of support we've received following Monday's tragedy. We are heartened by the many notes of care and concern. The unprecedented actions over the past 60 days have tested the entire nation in a way that could not be envisioned prior to September 11.

I hope that you find these communications informative. It is my pledge to you to keep you informed of not only issues surrounding the accident but also security and airport process measures that we are implementing across our system.

On behalf of the 100,000 employees at American, TWA and American Eagle, thanks for your support.

Sincerely,

Mike Gunn Executive Vice President American Airlines
